

Strategies for Success:
Best Practices to Support Advising Learning Outcomes

October 20, 2016
Atlanta Metropolitan State College
Charles Easley Conference Pavilion

KEYNOTE ADDRESS: “Advising, Learning Outcomes, & Assessments”

Ms. Fiona Brantley, Associate Director
The Center for Academic Success
Georgia Institute of Technology

Fiona Brantley earned her M.A. in English from Rutgers State University and her B.A. in Literature, Linguistics and Social Sciences from the University of the West Indies (Mona Campus). She has an extensive record of achievement and professionalism in the field of higher education, training and educational assessment as well as demonstrated expertise in student success programs.

Prior to becoming a part of the Center for Academic Success, Fiona was the Director of Supplemental Instruction at Kennesaw State University and a Senior Lecturer in English. She believes in and has repeatedly experienced the power of various academic support interventions to positively impact students academically, socially and emotionally.